

“Even in my Pain, I Trust You”

Even in my pain, I trust You

Even in my sorrow, I praise You

Even in my disappointment, I know You have our best interest in mind,

Even though I can't see it now nor do I understand it

I trust You

Even in my heartbreak, I turn to You for the comfort that only You can give

Even in my sadness to lose him,

I feel glad that he is in absolute glory in heaven with You now

Even in my lack of knowing why, I must trust that You had him here for a time and

You wanted him in heaven for something there

Even in my grief, I trust You

Even in my shock, I lean on Your mercy, knowing that You are in absolute control

Even in my asking of why?! So young and healthy, I am reminded that each breath

we have on this earth is a gift

And You know when any of us will have our last one

Even in my disbelief of this happening,

I lean not on my own understanding but Yours

Even in the rivers of tears I cry, I have peace

Because it is Your peace that passes all understanding...

...Regardless of circumstances

I trust You

Even in my selfish desire to have my husband here, I know that only You decided to take him to heaven and I know because of that, I have to release him

Even in my despair, I surrender to Your will

You gave him to me for 29 years to love and cherish

Through thick and thin till death did us part, as difficult as that is to even say

We stood by each other's side through unimaginable troubles and fought for each other because of the love and commitment we had

I will cherish in my heart forever, how much we adored each other and how much You had us build each other up to become better people

I continue to thank and praise You for the opportunity that You gave me to love, honor, adore and serve this wonderful man

And I completely trust that You have a plan and a purpose for why You have allowed this to happen

Even though I don't understand right now what it is and maybe I never truly will

I surrender to You and I trust Your plan

I have hope in You because You are in control

For “We walk by faith and not by sight.”

Even in my tears, I praise You

Even in my pain, You comfort me

I trust You God, completely!

by Samantha Taylor